Welcome & Purpose

Why we're here today

This forum brings residents, business owners, and city leaders together to review current development plans, share community priorities, and gather public input before key decisions are made.

- Share the latest city growth data and development proposals
- Explain how proposed projects affect neighborhoods and services
- Hear directly from residents and answer your questions
- Outline how you can stay involved after tonight

A Growing City

Our city has grown steadily over the past decade. Tonight's forum is one of several planned public checkpoints to make sure that growth reflects what residents actually want.

"Good cities are built with residents, not just for them."

Development Priorities

Four focus areas shaped by community feedback

Housing

Expand affordable and diverse housing options across all neighborhoods.

Transportation

Improve public transit, bike lanes, and walkability city-wide.

Green Space

Protect and expand parks, trails, and natural areas.

Infrastructure

Upgrade roads, utilities, and stormwater systems for future growth.

How to Get Involved

Your input shapes what gets built

Public Comment Period

Submit written comments through [date]. Every comment becomes part of the official record.

Upcoming Meetings

Join future planning sessions and neighborhood workshops — schedule posted online.

Interactive Map Tool

Explore proposed projects near you and leave location-specific feedback.

Join a Committee

Apply for a seat on a neighborhood advisory or planning committee.

Open Discussion & Q&A

A few ground rules so everyone is heard

- 1 Please raise your hand or use the virtual “raise hand” feature
- 2 State your name and neighborhood before speaking, if comfortable
- 3 Keep comments to about 2 minutes so more voices can be heard
- 4 Be respectful — disagreement is welcome, personal attacks are not
- 5 Can't ask your question tonight? Submit it in writing or online

Thank You

Your voice helps shape the future of our city.
